LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

To His Excellency, Arthur Capper, Governor of Kansas.

Sir:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the Annual Report of the State Live Stock Registry Board for the year ending December 31, 1917.

C. W. McCAMPBELL, Secretary.

December 31, 1917.

A SPECIAL REQUEST

The State Live Stock Registry Board requests stallion owners to use the utmost care in making application for stallion license:, being certain:

- (1) That the application blank is accurately filled out in every detail.
 - (2) That the application has been sworn to.
 - (3) That the registry certificate (pedigree) accompanies the application for license if the stallion has changed ownership since the previous license was issued.
 - (4) That the fees are in the form of post-office money order, express money order, draft. or certified check.
 - (5) That all fees, papers, and pedigrees are inclosed in one envelope, as great confusion and delay are often caused when they are sent in different wrappers, due to the fact that 1,000 applications are sometimes received in one week, and care of this sort on the part of each stallion owner will assist greatly in the early issuance of licenses.
 - (6) That the application for a license is sent just as soon as the application blank is received, thus avoiding delay in issuing the license and allowing one to advertise his stallion before the breeding season opens.
 - (7) That all sections of the stallion license law are read carefully.
- The law has been in effect long enough so that everyone is expected to be familiar with its provisions and all must comply with each provision of the law. Attention to these details will assist not only the registry board, but the stallion owner as well.

PROSECUTIONS

The stallion license law provides a penalty in the form of a fine of from $20 to $50 and costs for standing or offering a stallion for public service without a license, and the courts have ruled that an owner is standing a stallion for public service whenever he allows his stallion to serve mares owned by neighbors or others, and a license is required.

A few stallion owners who have interpreted the law to suit their own fancy and have used their stallions without licenses have suffered the embarrassment and expense of an arrest, prosecution, and fine. However, it has always been the policy of the State Live Stock Registry Board to give stallion owners every possible opportunity to take out licenses before starting a prosecution, but when a stallion owner willfully and knowingly uses his stallion for public service without a license, the Registry Board is ready to prosecute if its attention is directed to such violation of the law. All information furnished the State Live Stock Registry Board relative to violation of this law will be treated confidentially.

IMPROVEMENT IN PUBLIC SERVICE STALLIONS SINCE 1910

The work of the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board continues to be rewarded by an increase in the percentage of purebred stallions standing for public service in the State. The table following shows the changes that have taken place since 1910, when the stallion license law went into effect:

| BREED | American Saddle | Belgian | Cleveland Bay | Clydesdale | French Coach | French Draft | German Coach | Hackney | Morgan | Pereheron | Shetland | Shire | Standardbred | Suffolk | Thoroughbred | Purebred | Grades and Scrubs | Total |
|----------------------|-----------------|---------|---------------|------------|--------------|--------------|--------------|---------|--------|-----------|----------|-------|--------------|---------|--------------|----------|-------------------|-------|
| 1910..... | 16 | 133 | 15 | 41 | 35 | 261 | 38 | 12 | 17 | 1342 | 0 | 114 | 553 | 1 | 12 | 2599 | 3766 | 6365 |
| 1917..... | 35 | 208 | 5 | 37 | 14 | 290 | 34 | 10 | 27 | 2316 | 15 | 78 | 286 | 2 | 11 | 3368 | 2077 | 5445 |
| Increase or Decrease | +19 | +75 | -10 | -4 | -21 | +29 | -4 | -2 | +10 | +974 | +6 | -36 | -267 | +1 | -1 | +769 | -1689 | -925 |

A careful study of the table reveals some very interesting facts. Seven years ago 2,599 purebreds and 3,766 grades and scrubs were licensed to stand for public service in Kansas. Only 40.8 per cent were purebreds while 59.2 per cent were grades and scrubs. During 1917 licenses have been issued for 3,368 purebreds and 2,077 grades and scrubs, or 61.8 per cent purebreds and only 38.2 per cent grades and scrubs. In other words, 29.4 per cent more purebreds were licensed in 1917 than in 1910 and 44.8 per cent fewer grades and scrubs.

Furthermore, 2,933 purebred draft stallions and 437 purebred light stallions were licensed in 1917 as compared with 1,892 purebred draft stallions and 707 purebred light stallions in 1910. During this period there has been an increase of 54.7 per cent in the number of purebred draft stallions and a decrease of 38.3 per cent in the number of purebred light stallions. During this same period the number of purebred Percheron stallions has increased 72.5 per cent, and they represent 68.8 per cent of all the purebred stallions standing for public service in Kansas during the year 1917.

Stallions of the different breeds, ranked in the order of the number licensed for 1917, appear in the following table:

|---------------------------|-------|
| Percheron | 2,316 |
| French Draft | 290 |
| Standardbred | 286 |
| Belgian | 208 |
| Shire | 78 |

| American Saddlebred | 35 |
| German Coach | 34 |
| Morgan | 27 |
| Shetland | 15 |
| French Coach | 14 |
| Thoroughbred | 11 |
| Hackney | 10 |
| Cleveland Bay | 5 |
| Suffolk | 2 |

The counties having fifty or more stallions in which the largest per cent of purebreds were licensed to stand for public service during 1917, also the percentages of purebred stallions licensed to stand for public service in these same counties in 1910, rank as follows:

The stallion license law has given mare owners a means of knowing the exact breeding of the stallions they patronize, and has eliminated the misrepresentations regarding bloodlines which formerly appeared in many stallion advertisements. In 1909, over 2,000 grades and scrubs were advertised as purebreds, while in 1915, not one such animal was so advertised in Kansas newspapers. Previous to the passage of the stallion license law hundreds of grades and scrubs with fake and fraudulent pedigrees were sold as purebreds to unsuspecting purchasers at prices ranging from $500 to $4,200 each. These unscrupulous stallion peddlers have left the State, as the stallion license law has exposed their wares.

These practical and beneficial results from the operation of the stallion license law make it of inestimable value to the horse raisers of Kansas. The cooperation of every one interested in horses in seeing that the law has its widest application, will result in even greater benefits.

COLT LOSSES--CAUSES AND PREVENTION

On March 1, 1914, there were only eleven colts under one year of age in Kansas for each stallion that had stood for public service during the year 1912. Yet thirty-five mares would be a conservative estimate of the number bred to each stallion that season. Since a 60 per cent foaling guarantee is given with practically every stallion that changes ownership, it is reasonable to assume that at least that proportion of the thirty-five mares bred to each stallion "settled." This means that twenty-one mares should have reared foals during 1913 instead of the eleven foals actually in existence on March 1, 1914. In other words, fourteen out of every thirty-five mares bred during the season of 1912 perhaps failed to get in foal and twenty-four out of every thirty-five mares, or 69 per cent, failed to raise a colt to the age of nine or ten months. If each of the ten mares that conceived and did not raise a colt represents a loss of $20 to its owner, the total loss in Kansas from this source alone amounted to more than one million dollars for the year 1913. When this is added to the loss from the mares that did not get in foal, the seriousness and magnitude of the annual colt losses in Kansas is more than doubled.

It is evident that something must be done, but before suggesting remedies, the causes for these losses must be ascertained, acknowledged, and appreciated by those engaged in raising horses.

The causes for these losses may be grouped under two general heads: poor management and disease. The stallion, the mare, or the colt may be the victim of either or both.

Usually disease is considered the principal factor in colt losses, but as a matter of fact poor management is responsible for greater losses than disease.

Poor Management

Poor management is due either to ignorance or carelessness, neither of which is excusable. Books, bulletins, and pamphlets have been published upon every conceivable phase of horse production, and the cooperation of the agricultural press makes it possible for any horse raiser to become familiar with successful methods. An energetic application of this information would eliminate almost entirely the colt losses due to poor management and would lessen very materially those due to disease.

As the information regarding care and management is so freely accessible, only a small portion of this circular can be devoted to a discussion of this cause of colt losses. However, a few suggestions along these lines may be timely.

Effect on the Mare

A mare will not produce a foal if she is not properly nourished or if she is maintained upon feeds that have an injurious effect upon the organs of reproduction. Underfeeding is, however, the more frequent source of trouble. Ordinarily the mare comes through the winter thin and soft and is put into spring work with but very little preliminary feeding or preparation for hard work. A struggle results upon the part of the animal in attempting to maintain its physical condition and to meet at the same time the demands for energy necessary to perform the work required. A mare, such as has been described—run down, thin, or not accustomed to hard work, yet required to do this kind of work—is not physically fit to breed and in a large majority of cases will not get in foal. The best illustration of the value of good feeding and its beneficial effects during the breeding season is the practice of flushing ewes just previous to and during the breeding season. Flushing simply means feeding liberally wholesome and nutritious feeds. This practice stimulates and invigorates the whole animal body, particularly the organs of reproduction, and results, not only in a decided increase in the number of ewes that settle but also in the ease with which they settle. Ewes treated in this manner, moreover, have a higher percentage of twins and triplets. If this is a necessary and profitable practice with animals that are not called upon for an expenditure of energy in the form of labor, one can readily see the necessity and value of such a practice in the case of the working brood mare. Liberal amounts of wholesome feeds free from molds and smuts before and during the breeding season are absolutely essential if a larger number of healthy mares are to get in foal.

Numerous complaints have been heard to the effect that mares pastured on alfalfa fail to settle. There is no known reason why the alfalfa should have this effect, but as the complaint has been rather persistent it may be well to allow mares only a limited amount of alfalfa pasture during the breeding season. Complaints are also heard that mares fed alfalfa hay are shy breeders. When such conditions prevail they are undoubtedly due to overfeeding with alfalfa hay, as but very little complaint is heard where mares are fed limited amounts of alfalfa hay. Ten pounds a day should be the maximum amount fed.

Complaints have also been heard that mares fed cane hay fail to conceive. This is probably due to the fact that cane hay carried through the winter and into spring has lost a large amount of feeding value and that mares fed cane hay at this time of year are not getting sufficient nutriment or a properly balanced ration. This, of course, would interfere with conception. Hay of this kind also tends to have a constipating effect, while feeds during the breeding season should have a mildly laxative effect. Another danger lies in the presence of molds and smuts. Only clean, bright, well preserved cane hay should be fed during the breeding season and it should be supplemented with a substantial grain ration containing a plentiful supply of protein. Bran with corn, barley, or oats is an excellent feed for this purpose. Linseed oil meal in limited amounts is also a very satisfactory addition to the grain ration.

All changes of feed should be made gradually, for sudden changes tend to create digestive disturbances and these in turn tend to prevent settling and may cause abortion.

A large per cent of mares bred fail to get in foal because of overwork during the breeding season, and a large per cent lose their colts because of overwork during pregnancy. It is just as injurious to work breeding mares to the extreme limit even though they are well fed as it is to maintain them upon scanty, poorly balanced, or non-nutritious rations. Mares cannot slave and raise colts at the same time. The American Breeder relates an interesting case emphasizing this fact. Eight fine mares, owned and worked on a certain farm, were bred regularly to a stallion noted for his ability to get mares in foal. These mares were well fed and were of good breeding ages, but not a colt had been raised for two years. These mares were worked from early morning until late at night in order to get the most out of the hired help. The work on this farm continued the whole year round through all kinds of weather and all kinds of roads. After finding no evidence of disease, the trouble was diagnosed as too much hard work. The owner was advised to purchase a pair of mules to take the hard knocks and another pair of mares to lighten the work of the other eight. The owner acted upon the suggestions and a year later the ten mares raised eight colts.

A western Kansas farmer who is a very successful horse raiser, discussing the same question, writes as follows:

"The mare owners are largely to blame for not raising more colts in this part of the country. They rush their mares anywhere from sixteen to twenty-six miles to a stallion, breed them, and rush them back home, and wonder why their mares do not settle. One can drive through the country during the fall and see boys from fifteen to fifty years of age standing on the drill box with a big whip in hand and the teams on the trot. We hear these boys boasting of the fact that they drilled twenty-two acres of wheat in a day or, as in one case, two hundred acres in ten days, and still the owners of mares subjected to this kind of treatment wonder why their mares lose their colts. I knew of two mares that were put on the gallop with a load of fifty-five bushels of wheat from the threshing machine to the bin three-fourths of a mile away, and the owner wondered why his mares failed to raise colts after they were apparently safe in foal. Mare owners must learn to take better care of their mares if they expect to raise colts."

The infoal suckling brood mare requires not only humane but careful handling and liberal feeding, as three animals are nourished from the feed she receives. There must also be enough feed to provide energy for any labor she may perform in addition.

Mare owners often suffer loss through mares failing to produce colts because they neglect returning their mares regularly to be tried. All mares that have been bred should be returned and tried on the eighteenth or twenty-first day after breeding and again after a like period has elapsed.

EFFECT ON THE STALLION

The poorly managed stallion as well as the poorly managed mare is also responsible for a large percentage of the failures of mares to get in foal. Probably the most common and most serious fault in the management of the stallion is the neglect in providing sufficient exercise both in season and out of season. Hundreds of stallions are not permitted to leave their box or small lot from one year's end to the next. A stallion confined in such quarters loses his vitality and reproductive strength and will settle only a small per cent of the mares that are bred to him. Fertility, vigor, and health can be maintained only by providing plenty of exercise and wholesome feed. Another frequent and serious error in the management of the stallion is overbreeding. A big, strong two-year-old properly fed and exercised should not be allowed to serve more than fifteen mares during the breeding season, and there should be at least five days between any two services. A three-year-old should not have more than thirty-five mares, at intervals of not less than two days; a four-year-old not more than sixty mares, nor more than one each day; and an aged horse should never breed more than two mares in one day and better only one. The average stallion will fail to settle a large per cent of breeding mares if he is bred to more mares than the number suggested. Mare owners should investigate the practices of the various stallion owners of their community and refuse to patronize the stallion that has been abused by a greedy or ignorant owner that allows too many services.

Disease

Diseases affecting the colt crop may be discussed under three heads: diseases of the stallion, diseases of the mare, and diseases of the foal.

Effect on the Stallion

Diseases of the stallion interfering with his ability to settle mares may be divided into two classes: first, those causing general debility, such as distemper, influenza, and pneumonia, and second, those affecting the organs of reproduction, due either to infection or injury. The infectious diseases of the organs of reproduction of the stallion are fortunately few and infrequent. Of these, urethral gleet, vesicular exanthema, and dourine are the most important. Urethral gleet is characterized by a pus-like discharge from the penis. Vesicular exanthema results in pimples and pustules on the organs of reproduction, accompanied by intense itching and irritation. There is also heat, swelling, and tenderness of these parts, with frequent urination and generative excitement. Mares as well as stallions are affected and seem to be constantly in heat. The scabs peel off, leaving white scars. Dourine or equine syphilis is caused by a specific organism—Trypanosoma equiperdum—and is a serious infectious disease of the generative organs of horses; but it is present in only a few localities, where it is under strict federal quarantine. Some of the more common symptoms are swelling of the organs of reproduction, with numerous ulcers. As the disease progresses the nerves and internal organs become involved. In advanced stages the horse becomes emaciated and stupid. The attacks usually last two or three months, being more rapid in winter than in summer. From 70 to 80 per cent of the infected horses die. In case of recovery a stallion or mare must not be used for breeding purposes for at least three years after apparent recovery.

One should never patronize or use a stallion that shows a discharge, irritation or inflammation of any of the organs of reproduction.

Effect on the Mare

Diseases of the mare preventing settling may be classified under two heads: first, diseases causing general debility indirectly affecting the organs of reproduction; and second, diseases directly affecting the organs of reproduction. Any disease causing a feverish condition will lessen the chance of the mare settling. For this reason it is generally a waste of time and energy to breed mares suffering from colds, distemper, influenza, or shipping fever. Many times mares are presented for service that are apparently in good health, but a careful examination reveals feverishness, hence it is necessary for every stallion owner to have as a part of his equipment a clinical thermometer. The temperature of every mare offered for service should be carefully taken, and mare owners should not be dissatisfied or disgruntled when the stallion owner refuses to breed mares showing a temperature of 101 degrees or higher. High temperatures are often forerunners of serious disease, and mares showing high temperatures should receive the best of care until the symptoms or ensuing disease disappears, and they should not be bred until normal conditions prevail.

There are two classes of diseases directly affecting the organs of reproduction of mares: non-infectious and infectious. The more common non-infectious diseases are ovarian cysts, occluded or closed Fallopian tubes, hardened or occluded os uteri (neck of the womb), malformations and displacements. Ovarian cysts prevent the development of the ovum (egg or female cell) and thus prevent conception. Sometimes only one but many times both ovaries are affected. Often ovarian cysts cause mares to be in heat continuously. The cysts can be located and very often broken down by rectal examination and manipulation. The Fallopian tube is a very slender and convoluted tube leading from the ovary to the uterus. The egg or female cell of reproduction passes down this tube into the uterus under normal conditions, but frequently this tube becomes occluded or closed.

This thickening of the walls prevents the passage of the female cell from the ovary to the uterus as well as the ascent of the sperm.

Occasionally one will find a tightly closed, rigid os uteri. Such a condition will not allow the semen to enter the uterus to fertilize the female cell. When this condition prevails a mare cannot settle to the service of the stallion. Often careful and gentle manipulation will cause the os uteri to relax and open enough to allow the semen to enter the uterus at the time of service or to permit the insertion of a capsule that has been filled with semen. Sometimes, however, it is necessary to operate. This will require the services of a graduate veterinarian.

Malformations sometimes prevent conception. Any of the organs of reproduction may be involved. Some may be remedied by surgical means, while other cases are incurable. All malformations should be referred to a graduate veterinarian who can advise best as to the proper course to follow.

Displacements are probably more frequent than one would ordinarily expect. The uterus is often involved, but the ovaries and Fallopian tubes are also occasionally affected. Many times inflammation accompanies displacements and this of course prevents conception, but usually displacements prevent conception by interfering with the passage of the spermatozoa or ovum into the uterus.

Probably one of the most common displacements is that of the os uteri. Many times it is tilted in such a manner that the semen cannot enter the uterus by a natural service. In such cases an impregnator or a capsule must be used. All displacements require the attention of a graduate veterinarian.

The infectious diseases affecting the organs of reproduction of the mare are responsible for a large percentage of the failures to raise colts. Most of these infectious diseases are localized in the vagina and uterus, and every stallion owner should know how to examine a mare and should be properly equipped to make such examination. He should be able to show mare owners the symptoms he finds and should be able to explain the meaning and significance of these symptoms. The stallion owner who cannot and does not do this is not meeting the obligation and responsibility he owes the mare owners of the community. A mare owner cannot afford to patronize a stallion owner who does not examine all mares presented for service and who does not refuse those showing evidence of infection. Infectious diseases of the organs of reproduction of mares are being continually spread by stallions whose owners carelessly give no attention to the physical condition of the mares bred.

The condition of the mucus membranes lining the organs of reproduction is a good index to the health of these organs. If the organs are normal and healthy the lining membranes should show a pale rose color not too bright and not too dull. If they appear congested or bloodshot, or if there is any abnormal discharge, something is wrong. The trouble may be due to an infection resulting in an acid condition of the secretions; it may be due to an infection resulting in chronic inflammation of these organs; it may be due to an infection resulting in pus formation; it may be due to an infection resulting in a pale, open, relaxed os uteri with a thick pus-like coating on the walls of the vagina and uterus; or it may be due to a specific infection such as contagious abortion.

All infectious diseases should be treated by a graduate veterinarian, but for the benefit of those who may not or cannot secure the services of such a veterinarian, the following suggestions are offered:

Make a careful examination of the vagina and uterus. A speculum enabling one to make a thorough examination can be procured at a very reasonable price. The acid test should always be made. This is done by inserting a small piece of blue litmus paper, which may be secured from any druggist. If the blue litmus turns pink, the secretions are acid and an acid medium kills the spermatozoa (the male fertilizing element). These secretions should be alkaline and if no pus or serious inflammation is present the acid condition may be temporarily overcome by flushing out the mare with two or three gallons of water that has been boiled and allowed to cool to 110 degrees. Add to this water one teaspoonful of baking soda for each quart of water used. If the uterus as well as the vagina is flushed out, the fluid should be drawn out. This may be done by lowering the container before all has run into the uterus. A mare that has been flushed out with the soda solution may be bred two hours after treatment.

If there is evidence of slight inflammation or congestion of the mucus membranes lining the vagina and uterus but no pus formation, the mares should be flushed out twice a week for three or four weeks with a saline solution made by adding one teaspoonful of salt to each pint of water that has been boiled and allowed to cool to 110 degrees. About two gallons of this solution should be used each time. Saline solutions not only act as mild antiseptics, but also stimulate and invigorate the mucus membranes. If the mare fails to discharge all the solution, it can be siphoned out. It would be well if the saline treatment preceded the soda treatment for acidity of vaginal secretions.

If, upon examination, pus is found in the vagina or uterus or if the os uteri is open and flabby, persistent and careful treatment is needed. Such a mare is not in condition to breed, but by persistent treatment she may be in condition to breed some months later. The treatment might be started with irrigations of one part potassium permanganate to 1,000 parts of water given at a temperature of about 105 degrees. Give one each day for a week. After a few treatments of potassium permanganate, the mare should be flushed out twice a week with a solution made by adding one or two teaspoons of tincture of iodine to each gallon of water that has been boiled and allowed to cool to 110 degrees F. Use about two gallons of the solution each time the mare is flushed out.

Contagious abortion is a serious infectious disease which seems to be more prevalent each year. A survey of 35 communities showed that 9 per cent of the mares in foal in these communities had aborted, and it is quite evident that these abortions were due to infection. Most animals become immune and cease to abort after two or three abortions, but such animals carry infection to animals that have not aborted. Prevention is the best treatment. In cases of abortion the following suggestions should be carefully observed:

1. Isolate individuals aborting.
2. Burn foetus, membranes, and all contaminated litter and manure.
3. Thoroughly clean and disinfect where abortion has taken place. A 5 per cent solution of creolin or carbolic acid is very satisfactory for the purpose.
4. Wash the genitals, rear quarters, tail, and udder repeatedly with a good antiseptic solution.
5. Flush out the uterus with two gallons of warm (105 degrees F.) solution of one part potassium permanganate to 1,000 parts of water every three days for a couple of weeks, or longer if necessary.

There is no sure cure for abortion; however, several lines of treatment have yielded encouraging results. Results more or less satisfactory have been secured from the use of carbolic acid. This treatment is as follows: Boil and cool one quart of soft water. Add to it five drams of pure crystals of phenol. Keep this solution in a well corked, sterilized bottle, shaking it vigorously each time before using any of it. Get a hypodermic syringe similar to those used in vaccinating for blackleg, and treat the affected animals by injecting under the skin about 1.5 ounces of this solution, putting one or two drams at different points of the body. Repeat every seven to ten days until about six treatments have been given. After about two treatments, increase the dose to all the animal will stand. To do this, give one or two extra syringes full and wait a little while, all the time watching the eyes. If the pupil dilates, enough has been given. An overdose makes some animals quite sleepy, or they stagger a little, but these symptoms are not dangerous and soon wear off. To give all the animal will stand without staggering is good practice after about the second treatment. If any of the animals show signs of aborting at any time, give two to four drams per day for a time and it will probably check the tendency. Carbolic acid may also be administered as follows: One-fourth pint of a 4 per cent solution daily in feed for ten consecutive days during each month. During later stages of pregnancy the dose may be increased to one-half pint, or to herds suspected of possible trouble, thoroughly mix one pound of phenol with five pounds of salt, and give to each animal a tablespoonful of the mixture in a bran mash every day for a week or two.

Threatened abortion due to indigestion, exposure, overwork, lack of exercise, injury, etc., may sometimes be prevented by the use of drugs. Laudanum is usually at hand and may be given in doses of one to two ounces and repeated after two or three hours. Three dram doses of chloroform may be given instead of the laudanum. The chloroform should be given in a pint or a quart of water. Probably the best drug is black haw (Viburnum prunifolium) in one ounce doses every two hours. One should be very careful not to confuse contagious abortion with abortion due to accident. It is always safe to look upon all abortion as contagious and treat it as such.

Effect on the Colt

Navel ill, white scours, and distemper are the three diseases that cause the larger per cent of colt deaths. Navel ill, which kills more colts than all other diseases combined, is caused by infection getting into the navel cord at time of birth or soon after. In other words, navel ill is simply the result of an unclean foaling place. The best place for a mare to foal is in a clean pasture where the fresh air and sunshine have killed the germs causing navel ill. If weather conditions compel foaling in a barn, then the greatest care must be taken to make the foaling place thoroughly clean. All litter must be removed, the sides and ceiling should be swept clean, and every nook and corner thoroughly disinfected with a solution of some disinfectant. A good strong solution of stock dip will answer the purpose very well. After a thorough disinfecting of the stall, slaked lime should be scattered over the floor, then fresh, clean bedding should be supplied and sprinkled lightly with a good disinfectant after placing the mare in the stall. It is well to apply tincture of iodine every one to four hours to the colt's navel cord until the cord is fairly dry. A drying powder may also be used. Tannic acid one part, boric acid two parts, makes a very satisfactory powder for that purpose. If these directions are carefully observed, navel ill will not appear and prevention is the only successful way to handle this disease.

If the colt shows signs of dullness, seems to care little about nursing, and acts somewhat stiff in its gait; there is a strong possibility that it has become affected with the germs of navel ill. Fever soon follows and later the joints may swell and often pus forms in the navel. When the first symptoms appear, a veterinarian should be called without delay, but even the veterinarian can offer but little assistance after the infection has become well established.

White scours is another serious disease of foals. The mortality has been estimated to be 80 per cent of those attacked. Some of the exciting causes are:

1. Not allowing the foal to have the first milk, which acts as a mild laxative.
2. Suddenly changing from mare's milk to cow's milk.
3. Allowing foal to suckle dam that has become very hot or excited. Milk from dams in this condition is often very poisonous.
4. Allowing too long intervals between sucking periods.
5. Feeding the dam unwholesome food.

Prevention is the best cure, hence all causes enumerated should be guarded against. In case white scours develops, call a graduate veterinarian.

If none is available, the first step in treatment is the elimination of the exciting causes. A two-ounce dose of castor oil serves this purpose quite well. This should be followed with intestinal antiseptics. A preparation highly recommended is white bismuth one ounce, prepared chalk one ounce, tincture of cinnamon eight ounces, gum arabic one-half ounce. A tablespoonful of this preparation should be given three times daily.

Instead of the remedy just suggested, the oil may be followed by a teaspoonful twice daily of a mixture of one part salol and two parts sub-nitrate of Bismuth.

Another preparation, but one not so highly recommended, is calomel one part, chalk 12 parts. The dose is six grains three or four times daily. Careful and light feeding of both the colt and its dam must be practiced during the course of the trouble.

Distemper or strangles is the third of the more common infectious diseases of colts. Some of the common symptoms are dullness, semi-closed eyes, and redness of the mucus membranes of the nose; fever, and a more or less profuse pus-like discharge from the nose soon follow. Swellings between the jaws and at the throat are noticed early in the attack.

While the disease usually leaves no serious results, it may leave the wind impaired and occasionally deep seated abscesses develop which may cause death. Prevention is the best treatment. This means the use of great care in keeping infected horses off the farm and not allowing the colts to come in contact with the disease. Vaccination is also practiced very extensively and is a reliable preventive measure when properly done. Protection from cold and chill is most essential to successful treatment. Steaming the nasal passages with vapor from a bucket of hot water into which a small amount of creolin or other coaltar disinfectant has been poured, is a very satisfactory form of treatment. Flaxseed poultices should be applied to swellings, which should be opened as soon as there is evidence of a formation of pus. After opening, they should be irrigated daily with an antiseptic solution until healing has taken place. Four dram doses of Fowler's solution of arsenic twice daily for a week or ten days have proved a very satisfactory tonic for colts recovering from distemper. This may be purchased in tablet form, which makes it very handy to use.

There are non-infectious diseases and disorders that sometimes cause the death of young colts, the most common being:

1. Smothering at birth due to an obstruction of the nostrils. If the heart is still beating, the nostrils should be examined to see that they are open. The tongue should be drawn out to open the lungs and artificial respiration used.
2. Leak from the navel caused by the navel opening having failed to close. Astringent antiseptic applications will sometimes overcome the trouble, but often the services of a surgeon are necessary.
3. Failure to discharge the contents of the bowels present at birth often causes trouble. If a bowel passage does not occur within a few hours after birth, a warm water injection (105 degrees F) should be given. If this condition is neglected, symptoms of colic appear in eighteen to twenty-four hours which often terminate seriously, hence the necessity for giving this matter early attention.

HEREDITARY UNSOUNDNESSES IN HORSES

Profit in horse raising depends primarily upon two factors: type and soundness. Considerable attention has been given the profitable type of horses, but the problem of eradicating hereditary or transmissible unsoundnesses has been overlooked or neglected by the average horse raiser.

Unsoundnesses are designated as hereditary when they are due primarily to an inherited weakness of the part involved. This weakness may be in the form of one or all the following conditions: defective conformation, poor quality of tissue, or insufficient quantity of tissue of the part involved. These weaknesses are physical characteristics and as such are transmitted to the offspring. When such offspring reach maturity and are required to do the ordinary work that a horse free from these weaknesses should do without any disturbance of function or structure of a part, then the evidences of these weaknesses begin to appear, some as loss of function, others in the form of inflammation or enlargements. Hence it is not so much the inheritance of the disease or unsoundness itself that is to be feared, but rather the predisposition due to an inherited poor conformation or poor quality of tissue. A successful breeder offers the following suggestion: "If farmers and breeders would not patronize crooked-legged stallions and crooked-legged mares, in time these defects would be overcome and eradicated, and I know from actual experience that crooked-legged horses will produce crooked-legged horses and crooked legs develop curbs."

This practical interpretation of the question indicates that sidebones occur so frequently because poor feet, both as to quality and conformation, are so prevalent. Furthermore, the frequency of occurrence of "tied in," poorly shaped, meaty and soft hocks, explains why bone spavins and boggy hocks are so widespread. This suggests two groups of causes: external and internal. The external or immediate cause is usually the wear and tear of work-a-day life, but the internal or primary cause is the inherited weakness which may have been passed down for several generations.

In seeking for size, quality, speed, and other desirable qualities, several weaknesses have been allowed to creep in, and by overlooking them for so many generations, these weaknesses have been intensified. Hence, it is absolutely necessary to discriminate severely against the unsound sire, even though he be a very good individual in every other respect.

It is often questioned whether hereditary unsoundnesses lessen the market value of a horse materially. However, each of the unsoundnesses generally accepted as hereditary depreciates the market value of a horse from 25 to 76 per cent, depending upon the stage of development of that particular unsoundness at the time of sale. Unsound horses showing no lameness and ordinarily passed as sound by the average man are subjected to approximately the following cuts, as estimated by a member of Chicago horse market operators:

|------------------------|-------|
| Side bone..... | $25 |
| Ringbone..... | 50 |
| Small bone spavin..... | 20 |
| Small curb..... | 15 |
| Large curb..... | 30 |
| Thoropin..... | 10-25 |
| Bog spavin..... | 5-30 |
| Cock ankle..... | 50-75 |

When a horse reaches the market, his value is based upon the service he can render, and this value is measured in dollars and cents, not sentiment.

The farmers—the men who usually own from one to eight mares—are the men who produce practically 90 per cent of the horses of this country. These men watch carefully the cattle market, the hog market, and other farm product markets, but very few keep a close watch upon horse market conditions. Few farmer-horsemen are familiar with the various guarantees that go with horses sold on the market, and fewer still realize the fact that these various guarantees are based very largely upon the question of soundness. Furthermore, 76 to 90 per cent of the unsound horses which find their way to the market are hereditarily unsound. It behooves every horse owner to keep in closer touch with the horse markets and the general situation of the horse business if he hopes to secure the greatest profits.

Every horse raiser should visit one of the larger horse markets at least once each year. By so doing he will get a broader understanding of the horse business; he will realize more fully that there is a demand for certain classes of horses, while for others there is no particular demand; and he will learn to appreciate more fully the value of soundness. Recently, on a central market, a big smooth gelding guaranteed to be "serviceably sound" sold in less than one minute for $310. A few minutes later another big, young gelding, at first sight apparently just as good in every respect as the one just mentioned but offered under the guarantee, "wind and work," sold for $127.50. The second gelding sold so cheaply because he had a bone spavin ("jack") on one hind leg. This bony enlargement which is often overlooked or excused as only a "bump," made this big, smooth young gelding sell for less than half what he would have brought had he been sound. Furthermore, soundness is as necessary in light horses as in heavy horses. A smooth, toppy, four-year-old road mare with a ringbone sold for $40, while a five-year-old just as smooth and toppy with a bone spavin, sold for $47.50. The pair brought $87.50 simply because they were unsound, while a brown gelding, not as attractive as either of the mares mentioned, but sound, sold a few minutes later for $140.

Hereditary or transmissible unsoundnesses are big factors in lessening the profits of horse breeders. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are lost each year simply through lack of attention and neglect of this problem. If the mare owner will appreciate the value of soundness in the brood mare and will persistently and resolutely refuse to use the hereditarily unsound mare as well as the hereditarily unsound stallion for breeding purposes, wonderful results may be obtained in a very short time in eradicating unsoundnesses.

The following unsoundnesses are classed as hereditary:

1. Sidebone
2. Bone spavin
3. Ringbone
4. Bog spavin
5. Thoroughpin
6. Curb or Crooked Hocks
7. Roaring (Laryngeal Hemiplegia)
8. Defects of Vision
 - a. Cataract
 - b. Amaurosis
 - c. Periodic Ophthalmia
9. String Halt
10. Heaves (Pulmonary Emphysema)
11. Ridgling (Cryptorchidism)
12. Rheumatism
13. Melanotic Tumors

If the horse producer will but give the care, attention, and intelligent study demanded, there is no class of live stock that will return such certain profits as horses of the right kind. The very first requisite of the right kind of a horse is soundness. Such horses can be produced only from sires and dams free from hereditary unsoundnesses or an inherited predisposition to them. The successful breeder divests himself of all sentiment, and appreciates all defects which predispose to unsoundness in both sire and dam.

HORSE HINTS

Helping the Horse During Hot Weather

Since the horse is one of the most important factors in maximum crop production, a few simple precautions that will greatly increase the efficiency of the average farm horse are suggested:

1. Water frequently, for the body of the work horse needs great quantities of water during hot work. Watering frequently overcomes the dangers that result from watering freely at long intervals.
2. Feed regularly a uniform ration, both as to kind and amount. This practice lessens the danger of colic and other digestive disturbances.
3. The daily allowance of grain should be fed in three equal feeds, but only one-fourth of the daily allowance of hay should be fed in the morning, one-eighth at noon, and the remainder at night.
4. The grain portion of the daily ration should be increased in direct proportion to the severity of the work performed.
5. As a general guide for feeding work horses, one may suggest one and one-third pounds of grain and one pound of hay for each 100 pounds live weight.
6. Allow the horse to stop in the shade for a few minutes whenever possible for a brief rest and a chance to breathe freely and deeply.
7. Watch the work horse carefully. Drooping ears, unsteadiness of gait, short, and quick breathing, and a sudden ceasing to sweat are danger signals demanding prompt attention. They mean that the horse is getting too hot and that he must have shade, cooler air, and rest.
8. If the horse suffers a heat stroke, protect him from the sun, remove the harness, apply cold to the head—either water or ice—wash out his mouth and nostrils, and sponge his entire body with cold water.
9. Provide as cool a place as possible for the work horse at night, for the horse that does not become thoroughly cooled off at night will be in poor condition to stand the heat and work of the next day.
10. Allow the horse to rest on Sunday. Do not use him for a work horse during the week and for a buggy horse on Sunday.
11. A horse produces the greatest amount of net power from the feed and care provided when drawing a load at a moderate gait, hence greater and more efficient power and energy can be secured by increasing the load rather than the speed of the work horse.
12. Eliminate lice, worms, and flies, for they may decrease the efficiency of the work horse 50 per cent and increase the feed bill 25 per cent.
13. Groom the work horse thoroughly. This will save feed and will increase the health, vigor, and power of the horse.
14. Clean the collar every time it is put on the horse and keep its bearing surface hard and smooth.
15. If possible, sponge off the work horse, especially where the collar and other parts of the harness have left their marks when he comes in from work. Sponge out his mouth, nose, and eyes. Soak his feet thoroughly with cold water, but do not turn the hose on his body or legs. Wash his shoulders every night for a few weeks with cold salt water.

Cottonseed Meal for Work Horses

The extremely high prices prevailing for all kinds of feed have prompted many inquiries relative to the advisability of feeding cottonseed meal to work horses. In a general way these inquiries may be answered as follows:

1. Cottonseed meal is the cheapest source of protein at prices prevailing at the present time, and as protein is probably the most important nutrient in a work horse ration, cottonseed meal may well be made a part of such rations.
2. Some feeders have secured satisfactory results from feeding as much as five pounds of cottonseed meal daily for short periods of time, but a maximum of from two to three pounds daily is suggested for continuous feeding. Oats, corn, barley, or kafir five parts and cottonseed meal one part—these proportions by weight—should make a very satisfactory grain ration for work horses.
3. Work horses must be gradually accustomed to cottonseed meal, It is well to start with one-fourth pound daily, increasing the amount one-fourth pound daily until the safe maximum amount is being fed.

4. Eye trouble occasionally occurs when cottonseed meal is fed but very often this trouble is due to irritation from the meal that has gotten into the eyes. This suggests that cottonseed meal should be thoroughly mixed with the other portions of the grain ration. Another reason for mixing thoroughly with the grain portion of the ration is the fact that most horses dislike cottonseed meal. Pea size cottonseed cake may be fed instead of meal.

5. Feed only fresh, clean, bright yellow cottonseed meal. Dark or brown meal should not be used. The dark color may be due to age, adulteration, overheating in cooking, or to fermentation, all of which lessen its feeding value. Musty meal should always be rejected.

6. Cold pressed cake is not as desirable nor as cheap a source of protein as cottonseed meal.

7. The cheapest form of cottonseed meal is meal containing 41 to 43 per cent protein. Beware of combinations and mixtures.

8. Cottonseed meal prices are based upon the amount of protein contained in the meal. In many instances the protein content of cottonseed meal is below the amount guaranteed and for this reason buyers should make their purchases from local dealers whose guarantee is based upon the analyses made by the Kansas Experiment Station.

Alfalfa Hay for Work Horses

There is approximately 35 per cent more available protein in one pound of alfalfa hay than there is in one pound of shelled corn. This fact emphasizes the necessity of looking upon alfalfa hay as a concentrate rather than a roughage.

Allowing the work horse to eat large amounts of alfalfa is not only wasteful but dangerous, for the overloaded and distended digestive apparatus crowds upon the heart and lungs, making it difficult for the horse to breathe freely, thus depriving him of a sufficient amount of oxygen when at hard work.

Furthermore, practically all the protein that is not utilized by the body must be eliminated through the kidneys. This results in hyperstimulation or even inflammation of these organs and excessive urination.

Feeding excessive amounts of protein also has a cloying effect upon the whole animal system, resulting in impaired nutrition, filling and swelling of the legs and hocks, inability to stand hard work, excessive sweating, and impaired respiration.

However, the feeding of from four to ten pounds daily of alfalfa hay that has not been cut until quite mature, and that is free from dust, mold, or smut, has proved to be a very satisfactory practice.

Whenever possible horses fed alfalfa hay should also have access to prairie, cane, or kafir hay, straw, or corn fodder to add bulk to the ration and satisfy the craving that always results when very rich feeds are fed for long periods of time.

When compelled to use alfalfa only as the roughage portion of the ration one should not feed more than one pound daily per 100 pounds live weight.

The use of mature, well cured, clean alfalfa hay will reduce the cost of feed very materially when substituted for a part of the prairie or timothy hay portion of the ration. One pound of alfalfa hay may be substituted for one-half to two pounds of prairie or timothy hay until from one-third to one-half of the prairie or timothy hay has been replaced by alfalfa hay, the amount depending upon the quality of the alfalfa.

To Increase the Efficiency of Kansas Horses

1. Patronize only good purebred sires. Today 40 per cent of the sires standing for public service in Kansas are grades and scrubs whose average offspring is not worth as much at maturity as the cost of production. There are enough purebred sires in Kansas to get in foal all the available mares of breeding age, provided the energy of the stallions is conserved and the mares are given the right kind of care.

2. Conserve the energy of every stallion by giving him each day exercise equivalent to a ten-mile walk. Don't allow the stallion to serve a mare more than once when presented to be bred. Don't allow stallions of different ages more services than is herewith indicated: two-year-olds, not more than one service every five days; three-year-olds, not more than one service every three days; four-year-olds, not more than one service daily; five-year-olds and older, not more than two services daily. The artificial method of breeding may be used when the stallion owner has the necessary equipment and knowledge to insure success in its use.

3. Don't mix types. Breed the mare showing a predominance of draft blood to purebred draft stallions and those showing a predominance of light horse blood to purebred light stallions.

4. Avoid all excitement, haste, and getting the mare hot at breeding time. These conditions prevent conception and result in a loss of time to both stallion and mare owner, as well as a waste of the energy of the stallion.

5. Take better care of the brood mare. Under present conditions in Kansas only two mares out of every five that are bred raise colts. This tremendous loss is due almost entirely to poor management. Mare owners must use every possible precaution to protect the infoal mare from extremely hard work. She should not be asked to back heavy loads, neither should she be subjected to the strain of starting heavy loads.

6. The mare that is to be bred should be fed and managed in such a manner as to keep her increasing in flesh and condition during the breeding season. No other factor is so largely responsible for failure of such a large percentage of mares to raise colts as the common practice of allowing the mare to lose in flesh and vitality during the breeding season as a result of overwork and underfeeding.

7. All undersized, ill-shaped, and unsound mares should be bred to jacks because of the fact that mule colts from mares of this kind will be worth considerably more than horse colts and will be ready to use a year sooner.

8. Give the colt a chance to live by providing clean and sanitary quarters in which the mare may foal and thus avoid losses due to navel ill, and as soon as the colt is born, paint the navel cord with tincture of iodine. Continue to paint the navel cord with tincture of iodine every three or four hours for two or three days.

9. If the horses or colts have distemper, keep them warm and dry. Feed liberally, especially bran mashes. If the colts scour, give two ounces of castor oil to which five drops of oil of peppermint have been added, and make sure that the colt is not getting too much milk, that the intervals between nursings are not too long, and that the mare does not get too hot.

10. Feed well the stallion, brood mare, work horse, and colt, for it is only by good feeding that the greatest efficiency and profits are secured.

11. Read carefully the license issued by the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board for the stallion you may wish to patronize.

12. If the stallion you may wish to patronize has not been licensed for the current year, notify the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board, Manhattan, Kan.

THE ORPHAN FOAL

Raising a foal by hand requires much patience, careful attention to details, and the absolute cleanliness of all utensils used in feeding.

Cow's milk must be made the basis of the ration to be fed. The poorer milk is in butter fat, the better suited it is as a food for an orphan foal, because an excessive richness in butter fat causes scouring and other digestive disorders. As some differences exist in the composition of cow's milk and mare's milk, the cow's milk must be changed so as to be as nearly equivalent in composition to mare's milk as possible. Henry gives the average composition of mare's milk and cow's milk as follows:

| | No. of Analyses | Water, Per Cent | Casein and Albumen, Per Cent | Fat, Per Cent | Sugar, Per Cent | Ash, Per Cent |
|------------------|-----------------|-----------------|------------------------------|---------------|-----------------|---------------|
| Mare's milk..... | 72 | 90.58 | 2.05 | 1.14 | 5.87 | .36 |
| Cow's milk..... | 705 | 87.27 | 3.39 | 3.88 | 4.94 | .72 |

This shows that mare's milk contains more water, but only about half as much casein, albumen, and ash as cow's milk, while the sugar is nearly 1 per cent higher. Average cow's milk contains over three times as much fat as average mare's milk. Hence, it would seem necessary to add water and sugar to cow's milk when it is to be fed to orphan foals, and practical experience corroborates this theoretical deduction.

The first milk of the dam acts as a mild laxative to remove the faeces from the bowels of the new born colt. If the orphan foal does not receive this first milk, it should be given a dose of from one and one-half to two ounces of castor oil in fresh cow's milk.

The following method of preparing and feeding cow's milk to orphan foals has proved satisfactory: To a tablespoonful of sugar, preferably white sugar, add enough warm water to dissolve it, then add from three to five tablespoonfuls of lime water and enough fresh milk to make a pint. Feed about one-fourth of this mixture every hour for the first few days, always being sure that it is at body temperature at the time of feeding. If these precautions are not taken digestive disturbances occur. The lime water helps to correct digestive disorders and to keep the digestive organs in a healthy condition.

Various methods for getting the colt to take the milk have been suggested. Probably as cheap and at the same time as satisfactory a method as any is to use a bottle and nipple. All pans, buckets or bottles used in feeding the colt should be thoroughly cleansed and scalded after using, and all milk fed to the orphan foal must be fresh and clean and must always be fed warm; that is, at body temperature. Many colts have been killed simply by neglect of these important details. As the colt grows older, the intervals between feeding times are lengthened and the amount fed each time is increased. The condition of the colt should be the guide as to the amount fed. If it scours, cut down on the amount of milk and give from 2 to 4 ounces of the following mixture: castor oil, 2 parts; sweet oil, 1 part. When the colt becomes three or four weeks old the sugar may be discontinued, but it is well to continue the use of lime water. The colt may be given all the sweet, skimmed milk it will drink three times daily after reaching the age of three months.

The colt should be taught to eat grain and alfalfa or clover at the earliest possible age. Crushed oats with a little bran is the best grain feed, but is not always available. A fairly good substitute is crushed corn and bran, in equal parts by bulk, to which a small amount of linseed meal may be added. As soon as possible the colt should be allowed access to grass in addition to the feeds mentioned. Feed the orphan liberally, keep it in a thrifty, healthy condition, and there is no reason why it should not develop into practically as good a horse as it would have done had it been nursed by the mother.

KANSAS HORSE BREEDERS' ASSOCIATION MEETING
FEBRUARY 9, 1917

Meeting called to order at 9 a. m. in the chapel at the Kansas State Agricultural College. Because of the extended program the secretary was instructed to pass his report and present the same at the evening session. The speaking program followed.

The first speaker was Prof. W. A. Cochel of the Agricultural College, who gave a very instructive and valuable talk on the subject, "The Value of Community Effort in Horse Production." The subject is one of great importance and the discussion that followed showed how keenly those present were interested in the matter.

Mr. A. L. Sponsler, secretary of the Kansas State Fair, followed with a very valuable talk on, "Kansas Fairs and Kansas Exhibits."

Dr. F. F. Brown of the Kansas City Veterinary College was the next speaker, and his subject, "Sterility," was one of vital importance to every horse raiser in Kansas. His careful investigations, and his thorough understanding of practical farm conditions made his address particularly valuable. Doctor Brown was kept busy answering questions for three-quarters of an hour after finishing his address, and his clean-cut answers were greatly appreciated.

Kansas in general and Kansas horsemen in particular were highly honored in having Mr. Louis Aveline, of Nogent, le Rotrou, France, as the next speaker. Feeling that a man of such wide experience as a breeder of the best Percherons France has produced would have a message of interest to every Kansas farmer, the Horse Breeders' meeting adjourned to the College Auditorium, where Mr. Aveline was given an opportunity to address some 2,500 farmers attending the State Farmers' Institute. His address was a splendid effort and greatly appreciated. It has been published in the agricultural papers throughout the country.

The afternoon session was given over to the Annual Kansas Percheron Breeders' Consignment Sale, at which 42 Percherons (including weanlings) sold for an average of $503.16. The purpose of this annual sale is to give the small breeder an opportunity to dispose of his surplus Percherons to the best possible advantage. The College furnishes its barns, pavilion, and services in managing the sale without charge. The other expenses are prorated among consignors upon a basis of the number of horses sold. Only sound horses are accepted.

At the business session officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

- President, Geo. B. Ross, Kansas City, Kan.
- Vice-president, First Congressional District, Ralph Snyder, Oskaloosa.
- Vice-president, Second Congressional District, Fred Laptad, Lawrence.
- Vice-president, Third Congressional District, G. W. Forbes, Cherryvale.
- Vice-president, Fourth Congressional District, John Barr, Westmoreland.
- Vice-president, Fifth Congressional District, Ed Nicholson, Leonardville.
- Vice-president, Sixth Congressional District, J. M. Rodgers, Beloit.
- Vice-president, Seventh Congressional District, Harve Ewing, Pawnee Rock.
- Vice-president, Eighth Congressional District, J. C. Robison, Towanda.
- Secretary-Treasurer, C. W. McCampbell, Manhattan, Kan.
- Third Member Executive Board, W. H. Rhodes, Manhattan, Kan.

Adjournment.

C. W. MCCAMPBELL, Secretary.

CHAPTER 318

RELATING TO THE REGISTRATION AND LICENSING OF STALLIONS

Senate Bill No. 277

AN ACT regulating the registration, advertising, and licensing of stallions for public service in the State of Kansas, and repealing chapter 168 of the Session Laws of 1909 and all laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Kansas:

SECTION 1. Every person, persons, firm, corporation, company or association that shall stand, travel, advertise or offer for public service in any manner any stallion in the State of Kansas, shall secure a license certificate for such stallion from the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board, as hereinafter provided. Said board shall consist of the dean of the division of agriculture, head of the animal husbandry department, and head of the veterinary department of the Kansas State Agricultural College.

SEC. 2. To obtain a license certificate as herein provided, the owner of such stallion shall comply with the following requirements: first, the owner of a purebred stallion shall forward to the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board for inspection, the registry certificate or a certified copy of the registry certificate of such stallion, also other necessary papers or documents relating to the breeding and ownership of such stallion. Second, owners of cross-bred or grade stallions shall forward to the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board affidavit showing the breeding of such stallion. Third, owners of scrub stallions shall forward to the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board a statement of the breeding of such stallion. Fourth, the fee for such stallion license shall be $2.00 and said fee shall accompany each application for license, provided, however, that in case the stallion was licensed previous to July 1, 1913, under provisions of Chapter 168, Laws of 1909, the fee for a new license shall be one dollar.

SEC. 3. The Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board shall have power to revoke, cancel, and recall any license when said board shall find that such license does not truly and correctly represent the horse for which said license was originally issued, and when a license is revoked by the said board, it shall be the duty of the sheriff or a constable of the county where such license is located, to take possession of said license and deliver the same to said Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board when called upon by said Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board to take possession of said license.

SEC. 4. The Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board shall issue four kinds of licenses as follows: purebred, for stallion correctly recorded in stud books recognized by the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board; cross-bred, for stallion whose sire and dam are of different breeds but each is correctly recorded in the stud book maintained for that particular breed, provided said stud books are recognized by the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board; grade, for stallion whose sire or dam is recorded in a stud book that is recognized by the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board; scrub, for stallion whose sire or dam are neither recorded in a stud book recognized by the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board to examine and pass upon the merits of each registry certificate and statement of breeding submitted, as herein provided, and it shall use as its standard the stud books and signatures of the duly authorized officers of the various horse pedigree registry associations, societies, or companies certified by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., Bureau of Animal Industry, in Order No. 136, dated June 20, 1906, and any other stud books which may be established in the future when an association or company establishing such stud books shall prove to the satisfaction of the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board that they are doing an honest, reputable and creditable business, and that such stud books are necessary for the protection and encouragement of that particular breed.

SEC. 6. Each license issued by the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board shall expire on December 31 of the year in which it is issued, but each license may be renewed each year, provided the owner of said stallion make application for renewal before March 1 following the date of expiration, and forward with such application for renewal a fee of one dollar for each renewal, and submit satisfactory evidence establishing the identity of stallions for which renewal of license is requested. Each renewal shall expire on December 31 of the year for which it is renewed. Failure to have license renewed, as herein provided, before March 1 following the date of expiration, shall forfeit the right of renewal and when such right has been forfeited, the owner of such stallion shall procure a new license as provided in section 2.

SEC. 7. The license certificate for a stallion correctly recorded in a stud book recognized by the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board shall contain the following information: license number, registration number, breed, color, age, pedigree, name and address of owner, date of issue, the seal of the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board, and the signature of the secretary of the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board. The license for a cross-bred, grade, or scrub stallion shall contain the following information: license number, statement of breeding, color, age, name and address of owner, date of issue, seal of the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board, and the signature of the secretary of the Kansas State Live Stock Registry Board.

SEC. 8. Each bill, poster, or other advertisement of every kind and nature, issued by the owner, keeper, or person in charge of any stallion enrolled and licensed under this act and used to advertise such stallion by said owner, keeper, or person in charge, shall have as a heading for such advertisement the class of license issued for said stallion and the number of his license; thus, "Purebred License No--," "Cross-bred License No--," "Grade License No--," or "Scrub License No--," as the case may be. In all advertisements this heading shall be set in the largest and boldest type used in the advertisement.

SEC. 9.
